BRIEFLETS.

—St. Nicholas' day.
—"Passion's Slave" to-night.
—Dr. Sutherland's house is being repaired.
—The hottest thing out now is a country road.
—Mr. Gowdy is building a neat iron fence about his house.

—The "Christmas Market" opens at the Guards' armory this afternoon at 5 o'clock.
—The case of Bradley, of Beloit, charged with burglary, is to come up in the Municipal court next Thursday afternoon.

—This evening those who want a cheap trip to Palestine should hear Rev. F. P. Woodbury at the Congregational church.

—Jas. Doherty had $50 worth of hay and straw burned on the Spaulding farm on Sunday night. Cause supposed to be incendiary.

—Mrs. Dr. Judd has given the Christmas Market a wonderful painting of "Mater Dolorosa," which is to be raffled off at fifty cents a ticket the number of tickets being 150.

—A beautiful painting by Miss Julia Warren is to be voted for at the Christmas Market, to be awarded to the most popular physician in the city. The painting is valued at $150.

—Patrick Sullivan, better known as "Yankee Pat" was this morning pronounced a common drunkard by Judge Patton, and sentenced to thirty days in jail, and to pay a fine of $1 and costs.

—Owing to a rush of business elsewhere Smith's double headed, double ringed, great Uncle Tom's Cabin company has postponed its appearance here for a few days beyond the date announced.

—There are so many who purpose hearing Dr. Vincent's lecture to-morrow evening on "That Boy," that it is doubtful whether the First Methodist church will hold the crowd. Why not have the lecture in some larger audience room?

—The Uncle Tom's Cabin company which appeared here last Saturday night, caused Turner hall at Monroe to be packed last night, and three hundred people are said to have been turned away. The company appear at Beloit this evening.

—Supper will be served at the Christmas Market to-night in the Yankee kitchen from 5 o'clock to 8 o'clock. Thoroughgood's band will play, the market will be thrown open, and the wonderful autograph quilt will be drawn, and don't you forget it.

—The trial of Robert A. Baker, the Fond du Lac banker, who last spring closed his bank leaving former patrons out to the extent of a quarter of a million or such a matter, will have his trial at Janesville instead of Fond du Lac.—Milwaukee Sunday Telegraph.

The papers in the case have not yet reached here.

—Mr. H. D. McKinney has just received one of the latest novelties in cars—the noted Aurora road car. It is one of the most desirable vehicles ever invented for breaking colts, jogging trotters, and for general use over muddy and rough roads. It may be seen at the stables of R. W. Ellison, under the Opera house.

—William Canary (patented) complaint against two young men David Griffin and John Foley, and had them arrested for throwing stones at him. He did not appear to prosecute yesterday, and then the boys returned the tables and entered the complaint against him for selling liquor last Sunday. The case will be heard to-morrow morning.

—George Russell, who refused to pay his poll-tax because he was a subject of Queen-Victoria, and not of Uncle Sam, and against whom a judgment was rendered, has been placed in jail on account of non-payment. His friends have offered to pay the amount, which is about $11, but he insists they shall not do so, preferring for some reason to remain in custody.

—Mrs. H. C. Wells died at her home in the town of Rock, about two miles south of this city, last evening. She has been in ill health for about two years, being first attacked with spinal trouble, and consumption following. Her death came rather suddenly, for though ill, she was able yesterday to sit up, and ate her dinner as usual, but rapidly grew worse, until in a few hours death ended her suffering. She was aged 43 years, and leaves beside her husband three children. The funeral services will be held Thursday morning at 10 o'clock at the Baptist church, of which she had been a member for about 26 years.

PASTOR AND PEOPLE.

The Latter surprise the Former in a Happy and Practical Manner.

Last evening a goodly sized company of ladies and gentlemen, mostly connected with the Baptist church, gathered at the home of J. A. Hovey, and when duly organized there, proceeded in a body to the residence of the pastor of the church, Rev. Dr. Hodge. The pastor and family were completely taken by surprise, when in response to the summons of the bell, the front door was swung open, and the merry company marching in took possession of the house. The company came laden with baskets and bundles containing the necessities in the refreshment line, and the family thus honored by the sudden visitation speedily rallied from the surprise sufficiently to give all a hearty welcome, and to show as far as possible the hospitality which rules in their home. The evening was spent very joyously. There was chatting, and music, laughter, and chorales, and in due time all present were served bountifully with tempting edibles. One of the happy incidents of the evening was the presentation of a purse of $50 to Dr. Hodge, the speech-making being happily informal, and more of the nature of a conversation between Stanley B. Smith, as representing the friends, and Dr. Hodge, the recipient. The latter simply remarked that he was not an "extemporaneous" man, and as he was not given to extempore speeches, he could only say "thank you," and wanted to know if that was enough.

He was assured that it was, and the conversation became general again.

An incident somewhat showing the shades of the early part of the evening, just as the company were approaching the door, a man in sorrow was just leaving the house, his mission having been the sad one of securing Rev. Dr. Hodge's services to attend the funeral of his wife who had just died. Hardly had the pastor's words of sympathy for the sorrowing one died away, before he was called upon to express words of joy to friends whose hearts were throbbing with happiness. Such is only one of the common contrasts which make the life of a pastor, and few there are who are so well fitted to meet and help those who come with such varied feelings, as is the pastor who was so joyously surprised last evening.

PERSONAL.

—Officer Ed. Smith is on the sick list.

—Col. Barr Robbins went to Chicago to-day.

—H. S. Woodruff has returned from the East.

—Mr. Gaylord, the general agent of W. W. Cole's circus, was in the city yesterday.

—Miss Hattie Calkins, of Milwaukee, is in the city, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Wilcox.

—Rev. Mr. McCloud, pastor of the Baptist church at Stoughton, was in the city to-day.

—The Gazette is under obligations to H. M. Hart, of St. Paul, for several papers from that city, containing some special articles of interest.

—Colonel Calkins and wife, and son, are to arrive this evening from Milwaukee in time to participate in the King-Watson wedding this evening, and will, while in the city, be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Colvin.

—D. C. Carpenter, who has been connected with the Axtel house, Milwaukee, has assumed the duties of clerk in the Grand hotel in this city. He has a large acquaintance, and will doubtless add to the popularity of the house, if such a thing is possible.

—We have received a late number of the Hamilton, Ont., Spectator, which contains the proceedings of the celebration of St. Andrew's day by the Hamilton society, the leading speech in the banquet hall being made by our friend Frank Leland, United States Consul, in response to the toast "The President of the United States."

—Miss Fanny F. Pottit, who has been so well known here as a teacher, and as a favorite in social circles, was married this forenoon at her home in Fort Atkinson, to Seth W. Morrison, of Denver. Mr. and Mrs. Morrison passed through here this afternoon on route for Chicago, where they will remain for a few days, and then proceed to their western home. They were met at the depot by a number of their Janesville friends, who improved the brief time in which the train stopped, by offering congratulations and well-wishes, as supplemental to the gifts which friends here had sent already to the scene of the festivity.

TO-NIGHT'S THEATRE.

This evening at the Opera house will be given John A. Stevens' "Passion's Slave," which comes here most highly commended to the amusement-goers, as a play which merits a liberal patronage. The Boston Herald of September 28th says:

"Passion's Slave" is a highly romantic play, and was acted in an excellent manner by its author, Mr. John A. Stevens, and his support. The piece may be briefly described by stating that there is the usual hero, heroine, unrelenting father and villain, with the accompaniment of a swell, a giddy old maid, and the prattle of servants. The title of the play being upon the hero, who is a slave to the passion of jealousy, affection, "Passion's Slave" is a very strong play, and Mr. Stevens in his endeavor to please has succeeded, and has just claims as an author. His acting does him great credit; he is quite strong in his part of Manuel De Poe. The support is quite even and good. Miss Lotie Church upheld the interest which should be held in the heroine, and played with good success.

"A lady had the flesh eaten off her arm by scrofula. Could she see the sinews working." "Lindsey's Blood Searcher" cured her." J. Ralston, Elderton, Pa.

THE BLANK CHARGE.

The Trial of Fred Blank for the Killing of Mrs. Walrath.

The circumstances attending the killing of Mrs. Walrath at Indian Ford last July have been already given in the Gazette. Fred Blank, who has been lying in jail since, under the charge of murder, is now on trial in the Circuit Court. The jury drawn in the case is as follows: G. E. Brightman, C. Dykeman, A. P. Bennett, G. A. Gilman, H. J. Lawton, A. H. Peterson, Thomas Lippin, S. B. Kenyon, G. M. Rice, John Kilmer, R. P. Burdick, J. S. McGowan.

The jury spent their first night away from home last night, they being quartered at the Myers house under charge of Deputy Sheriff Drake.

The trial thus far does not excite much interest, and the audiences, including witnesses and attaches of the court do not number more than seventy-five. The evidence drawn out does not vary yet in any important respect from that given on the examination.

Fred Blank, the prisoner, sits like a perfect "blank." He is very stolid, and apparently pays no attention to what is going on about him. His wife sitting outside the rail, in the first row of seats, puts in most of her time in caring for the three little ones who hover about her. She is much worn and worried, and this forenoon her strength gave out, and she had a slight fainting spell.

The witnesses thus far have been John Hall, Christopher Walrath, the son of the deceased woman, and whose testimony consisted of a rehearsal of the incidents of the tragedy of which he was an eye-witness; Mr. and Mrs. John Barringer, who were the first to reach the house after the injury to Mrs. Walrath; Dr. Lord, who held the post mortem examination, and testified as to the nature of the injuries.

THE GAZETTE ANNUAL.

The Gazette's annual for 1892 will soon be ready for distribution among its patrons, and will prove the finest yet sent forth from this office. It will number 50 pages, having an elegant illuminated title page, and besides much valuable and interesting reading matter, together with the monthly calendars for the year, will contain about forty illustrations, several being full page engravings, and all of them showing much art. The annuals heretofore issued by the Gazette have been eagerly taken and carefully preserved by patrons throughout the county, and the coming annual so far surpasses them in beauty that it is really a prize which all will appreciate greatly. Due notice will be given when it is ready for distribution.

A Heavy Swell.

Jacob H. Bloomer, of Virgil, N. Y., writes: "Your Thomas' ELECTRIC OIL cured a badly swelled neck and sore throat on my son in forty-eight hours; and application also removed the pain from a very sore leg; my wife's foot was also much inflamed; so much so that she could not walk about the house; she applied the Oil, and in twenty-four hours was entirely cured."

METHODIST MINISTERS.

This afternoon the quarterly conference of the Janesville district of the Methodist church met at the First Methodist church in this city. Rev. A. J. Mead, president, and Rev. A. J. Benjamin, of Beloit, served as secretary. There were present the following clergymen: G. F. Reynolds, Clinton; N. J. Alpin, Stoughton; J. D. Cole, Fort Atkinson; C. E. Goldthorpe, Geneva; John Schneider, Orfordville; C. A. Wilson, Richmond; Jas. Richardson, Emerald Grove; I. S. Leavitt, Edgerton; C. B. Wilcox, Sharon; Thos. Potter, Allen's Grove. No papers or addresses were given, the meeting being for the transaction of only necessary business concerning the district.

Keep your family well supplied with "Sellers' Cough Syrup." Use it in time; you will avoid bronchial and pulmonary affections. 25 cents.

THE ROTARY WAGON.

A competitive trial of steam fire engines, for the sale of an engine, took place in St. Paul last Tuesday and Wednesday, the only contestants were the Sibley, of Seneca Falls, and the La France, of Elmira, New York, both being rotary—one of the tests being a play of ten hours without a shut off. The St. Paul Pioneer Press, of Saturday, says:

The committee appointed to conduct the trial of the two engines, the Sibley and La France, had a final meeting last evening which lasted till nearly midnight and which resulted in a split of the committee, the majority agreeing to a report that will be a surprise to those who saw the trial, and know that the Sibley won six out of seven of the tests. The majority of the committee determined to report that the La France has a better boiler, is superior in construction, is more durable, and better adapted to the wants of St. Paul, and to recommend that a La France engine be purchased. The facts found by the committee are that the Sibley machine was run at an average of 85 pounds of steam, while the La France used an average of 110 pounds; that the La France steamer in the two days test used 2 1/2 tons more coal than the Sibley and one-quarter more oil and did less work. In other words, the Sibley machine used less coal, less oil, less steam, and done more work, winning six tests out of seven, and yet is not so good an engine. Of course the minority of the committee will make a report of a different character.
